

Refuse to Abolish Treasurer Office

House Committee Rejects Stratton
Reform Proposal; Wright to Run in '58

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The House Executive Committee has dealt Gov. William G. Stratton the first setback on his legislative program by refusing to approve a proposal to abolish the elective office of state treasurer and make it appointive under the governor.

The committee's action Wednesday indirectly brought an announcement from former State Treasurer Warren E. Wright that he would again seek the office in 1958.

Making the treasurer appointive

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

STORM ECHOES: Russell A. Werkmeister and a carload of men were returning about 1:30 a. m. Wednesday from their work at a coal mine near Sturgis and between Equality and Harrisburg when the water on Route 13 got pretty high.

Mr. Werkmeister got out of the car, and the water was only an inch or two from the floor of the auto, to wipe off the spark plugs.

While the car was stopped Bob Smith of Muddy reached out the car window, grabbed a small channel catfish swimming by. It was only five or six inches long and he released it after showing it to the men.

MARY LOIS BYNUM, only female rural letter carrier at the Harrisburg postoffice, made her entire run yesterday on RFD 2 despite flood conditions.

She said she did pretty good until she got to the Blue Hole bridge, which was out, and had to backtrack five miles. A few times she had to carry the mail from the road over to the box because the auto couldn't get very close to it, but she made every box on her route.

Also, passing Red Bynum's house near Sunset Lawn cemetery, she found Red's auto mired in the yard and pulled him out.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harris were baby sitting for their daughter, Mrs. Connie Uzzle, during the Tuesday night storm.

During the worst part they heard a noise and ran to the back porch, where they found a large, full-grown rat in the parakeet cage on the floor.

The empty cage had been up on a table with one door open and the rat had got into it to get to some seed and overturned it onto the floor. It fell so that the open door was down facing the porch floor and the rat couldn't get out.

The animal was killed with a steel file.

"I ought to get a patent on this new type of rat trap," Mr. Harris joked.

Censure Me, Sen. Morse Challenges

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate censure move against Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) appeared unlikely today despite GOP anger over his attack on President Eisenhower.

Senate Republicans demanded that Morse publicly apologize for calling Eisenhower and Teamster boss Dave Beck "the same kind of immoralists" in a Detroit speech last Saturday.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) told the Senate Wednesday that if Morse made the statement on the Senate floor he might have been "subject to censure." Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) called Morse's statement "shocking."

Morse, a former Republican, promptly repeated the statement on the Senate floor and challenged his GOP critics to try to censure him for it.

was listed as part of Stratton's Hodge scandal reform program in his inaugural address. However, Rep. Kenneth E. Wendt (D-Chicago), who sponsored the proposal before the committee, said his action was not connected in any way with the scandal.

The committee refused 15-9 to send the proposal, which would require a constitutional amendment, to the floor.

Will Seek Post

Stratton also wants to abolish the auditor's office as an elective post and replace it with an appointive auditor general.

Wright, who testified before the committee concerning the duties of treasurer, said he was not appearing either for or against Wendt's proposal and that he was interested only in "the next election."

Asked if this meant he would again seek the treasurer's office in 1958 when it is scheduled to become a four year post, Wright said, "Yes, if that's not too unorthodox."

Treasurers cannot succeed themselves, and Wright in 1956 opposed Stratton for the Republican nomination for governor.

Elimination of the office as an elective post could not take effect until 1960 at the earliest.

Rep. Samuel H. Shapiro (D-Kan.) opposed Wendt's proposal and said it would concentrate too much power in the hands of the governor.

If Orville E. Hodge had been governor and appointed his accomplices, Edward A. Epping and Edward A. Hintz, as auditor and treasurer, Shapiro said, last year's Hodge scandal "would have looked like peanuts."

The full House, meanwhile, passed and sent to the governor for signature another Hodge reform bill, which would give the governor authority to investigate the finances and administration of any state government agency.

Approve Park Fee

Sponsors of the bill said the governor was handicapped by lack of such power during the Hodge case.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to require entrance fees at all state parks of more than 100 acres. The Conservation Department would be able to charge 10 cents a person and 10 cents an automobile at each park, or $2 for a yearly admission sticker.

The $2 annual fee would admit an automobile and all its occupants.

Only Buffalo Rock, Cave In Rock, Channahon Parkway, Fort Charities, Fort Creve Coeur, Fox River, Gebhard Woods, Lincoln Log Cabin, Lincoln Trail and Prophetstown state parks would be admission free, under its special law.

Admission fees, of 10 cents a person and 10 cents an automobile, now are charged at only seven state parks.

Heavy Damage By Storm in Gallatin County

Damage beyond estimate resulted from severe wind and rain storms that hit Gallatin county Tuesday night.

The first and probably the heaviest damage occurred in Ridgway where the high velocity wind demolished several buildings, damaged numerous others, caused limbs and trees to litter the streets and brought down power and telephone lines that disrupted service for a long period of time.

A barn at the Russell Ellis residence collapsed about 8 o'clock, a 200-foot long implement storage shed was blown from its location at the Scherrer Equipment Co. at 9:30, the same gust demolishing the nearby barn on the Charles Mitchell property. During the storm which continued until about midnight, other buildings were damaged east of town including some at the Alfred Wargel residence, and trees over a wide area were destroyed or badly damaged. The attractive wooded location of Dr. Joe Bryant was made unsightly as the winds stripped and felled the trees. Fruit trees also were reported made useless.

The storm struck Old Shawnee town shortly before midnight, uprooting many of the large trees, stripping the limbs from numerous others and damaging a few buildings which were hit by the falling timbers.

The bulk of the damage was in the vicinity of St. Mary's church where power and telephone lines were also felled to the ground.

Workmen were soon on the job in both the villages, however, and before noon had made a remarkable showing in the clean-up job.

The heavy, blowing rain which measured nearly six inches over a 24-hour period, flooded farm land and crops, made the highways hazardous in places and made the homes with roofs damaged by wind almost unlivable.

The heavy downpour sent water into the Shawnee Cabinet factory building, halting production Wednesday morning. The basement of the Jim York home was badly damaged by the powerful water that sent the sand moving.

Hail was mixed with the wind and rain storm early Tuesday night, several being found the size of golf balls and some reporting a few as large as a man's fist.

The flash flood sent many creeks and streams on a rampage, Cane Creek near Omaha overflowing to such an extent that several feet of water covered the highway south of Omaha which was still closed to traffic at noon Wednesday.

The Ohio river which was expected to reach a crest of 20 feet late in the week will probably continue to rise past that stage as a result of the torrents that struck the area.

Elks Ritual Team to Compete In State Contest

Members of the Harrisburg Elks district champion ritual team left today for the Illinois Elks convention at Springfield, where the team will compete against district champions from all over the state for the right to represent Illinois in the Grand Lodge ritual contest in San Francisco next July.

The state convention starts at 9 a. m. Friday and continues through noon Sunday, and is of more than passing interest to Harrisburg Elks this year because Eugene Schriener, present vice-president-at-large of the Illinois Elks Association and past state treasurer, will be nominated for president of the association. He has had a distinguished career in Elksdom, progressing through the offices of the local lodge, serving on district committees, and as District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler before proceeding to positions in the state association.

Because of the honor being accorded Schriener, who has been instrumental in coaching the ritual team to its district championship, members of the team have been working diligently to give a good account of themselves in the state contest. Team personnel: Vern Joyner Jr., John R. Small, Owen Hunsinger Jr., Marion Bradley, Richard Webb, Wayne Dixon, Floyd Jones, and Wayne Dixon.

Three Highways Out of City Sandbagged; Sewer Disposal Plant Abandoned

THE AUTOMOBILE CARRYING Charles Crank, his wife and two children drowned out on the country club road about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, the water covering the floor of the car several inches deep. A wrecker from the Mitchell service station was called to pull out the vehicle and the above shows Clarence Horton, Mitchell employee, in hip boots attaching chain from wrecker to Crank car. The Cranks, who live in Harrisburg, had been stranded only about ten minutes when the wrecker arrived. The car had to be pushed into Harrisburg. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Truck Loaded with Radios Overturns, Burns; Driver Hurt

Three Other Collisions in Area Reported

A transport truck loaded with radios and radio parts burned with all its contents Wednesday night and the driver, Ernest Fisher, 40, of Richmond, Ind., is in Lightner hospital suffering severe burns.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat said the truck overturned and caught fire on Route 45 two miles north of New Burnside about 9:15 p. m. when the pavement narrowed and wheels went off the slab, sinking in soft clay.

Fisher was brought to the hospital here by Archie McCormick of Creal Springs.

Sweat also reported three highway collisions in this area which occurred in an hour's time and in which Danny James, 19, of Raleigh was sent to the hospital as a result of being in one of them.

At 4:05 p. m., he said, an auto driven by Carl Cissna, 63, Evansville, crashed into a flasher signal at Pauper crossing when Cissna turned left off of Route 45. His companion, Reba Cannedy, 32, suffered a broken finger and a gash on the leg.

At 4:30 p. m. autos driven by Fred Elder of Carrier Mills and Wayne Lanham of Stonefort collided at the Route 45-Carrier Mills street intersection near downtown Carrier Mills when Elder drove onto Route 45 into the path of the Lanham car, travelling toward Harrisburg. Sweat said. There were no injuries but lots of car damage, he added.

At 5 p. m., he continued, a car driven by Marion J. Waite, 19, Harrisburg and a Federal Wholesale truck from Eldorado driven by Hubert Overton figured in a crash on Route 13 at the Harco road. Both car and truck were travelling east and the crash resulted when Waite started to go around the truck as the truck started a left turn.

Danny James, who with Waite were returning here from classes at Southern Illinois University, suffered head injuries and was taken to Lightner hospital.

Record Number of Tornadoes for First Five Months

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Weather Bureau said today that a record number of tornadoes has been reported for the first five months of this year.

The latest count of twisters striking the nation since Jan. 1 totalled 438.

The previous five-month high was 392 set in 1955. Last year's total for the same period was 371.

The bureau emphasized, however, that the reported increase in tornadoes does not necessarily represent a real increase. It almost certainly results from the fact that few tornadoes now escape the bureau's attention, whereas many went unreported in days of poorer communications.

Flood Protection Pumps Started Late Wednesday

Estimate 2,200
Insurance Claims
For Storm Losses

Highways leading out of Harrisburg to the north and east were sandbagged Wednesday night as rains continued in the area and the Harrisburg sewage disposal plant was abandoned as headwaters pushed their way over the levee encircling the properties east of the city.

Rain up to 7 p. m. measured 7.38 inches, definitely a record, and during the night more rains came to up the total. The rain gauge east of town had flooded out, Harrison Kibler said, adding it would be some time before it could be put into operation.

Marion Bradley, manager of the Western Adjustment and Insurance Co. office in Harrisburg, estimated that there will be approximately 2,200 insurance claims for storm losses in the six county area, with losses extending from Norris City to Golconda.

Flood Pumps Started

He said the special storm office was opening today at 31 West Popular street to handle the claims. Two men already have been sent here and six more are expected to operate the office.

Reports this morning said the flood situation in west Harrisburg was alleviating but that it was still bad in the north part of town. The flood protection work pumps were started late yesterday.

Harrison Kibler reported that the gauge on Middle Fork creek this morning read 26.20 feet, which is exceptionally high.

More families were evacuated from homes last night, with two on Midkiff street being taken out by boat. Boats also went to other houses which were surrounded by water but people elected to stay in the houses. Between 25 and 30 families were evacuated Tuesday night.

Appeals By Red Cross

The Red Cross, which is doing a big job in the evacuation phase, made an appeal over WSL-TV and WEBQ last night for coats and bedding and the response was reported to have been tremendous.

Among places where evacuees have been staying are the county jail, city hall and Bethel A. M. E. church.

The openings in the flood wall where three highways go through were sandbagged last night and early today to keep waters on the outside from pouring into the city.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
President's Famed Conference In Panama Lays Monetary Egg: When Ike Got Out Of Sickbed To Go To Panama
Last Summer, Big Things Were Expected; Latins Are Disappointed.

WASHINGTON. — Highest-level diplomatic conference in 178 years of U. S. diplomatic relations was held last June in Panama. More presidents of sovereign states were gathered there to meet with President Eisenhower than anywhere or at any other time in history.

The meeting was greeted with great fanfare in the Latin American press — fanfare deliberately encouraged by American diplomats. Some Latin American presidents who hung back, doubted the advisability of attending, were urged by U. S. ambassadors to be on deck. When the President was willing to leave his hospital bed after an ileitis operation, it was intimated, big things would be happening in Panama. The trip was not merely to convince the American public that he had recovered, diplomats said.

At Panama, a committee was appointed to carry out the long-range President's plan for Pan Americanism. The committee was headed by Ike's brother Milton. It held several meetings, and now, 10 months after the momentous recommendations.

Most Latin American diplomats had figured the United States would at least set up a fund similar to the Near East Doctrine fund to battle communism and develop Latin America. They watched the money being sent to Poland, Yugoslavia, Saudi Arabia and Southeast Asia, figured a revolving fund of $100,000,000 was the least that would come out of the unprecedented meeting in Panama.

Instead, an annual total of $3-387,700 is recommended, of which the Latin governments themselves will put up almost half. There is also $19,979,000 to fight malaria over a five-year period, but this is contingent on further negotiations with various organizations.

The projects adopted are healthy and worth while, but the amounts to finance them are considered a drop in the bucket by Latin diplomats. It should not have required a high-powered meeting of the greatest number of presidents ever to convene on the American continent, they say, to put across such a program. It could have been adopted by the Pan American Union itself.

The projects include: $1,100,000 for expanding the Institute of Agriculture at Turrialba, Costa Rica, to study the effect of nuclear energy on agriculture, and for two other agriculture centers to study the diseases of bananas and cocoa in Ecuador and temperate diseases in Uruguay; $275,000 for the study of workers housing; $500,000 additional for scholarships; $120-000 for technical assistance; $210-
000 for public relations; and $90-000 for a nuclear energy agency.
These are to be annual expenditures — if each government now approves.

Remarkable one Latin American ambassador: "We're not communist enough to get any real help from the United States."

NO BRIDGE FOR PANAMA

When President Eisenhower was in Panama he signed an act of Congress providing for a bridge to be built across the Panama Canal at Balboa.

This bridge had been promised Panamanians for 15 years. Without it they have to ferry across the canal or else cross at the Miraflores Locks several miles away.
So there was great rejoicing in Panama when President Eisenhower posed for a special photograph alongside his Panamanian host, President Arias, signing this bill.

Before the signing ceremony,
Jules Dubois, Latin American correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, asked President Arias for comment.

"I have to look at the bill," Arias replied. "I don't know whether it's an authorization or an appropriation."

Educated in the United States, the President of Panama knew all too well that there was a big difference between an authorization by Congress and an appropriation by Congress.

After the signing ceremony, Dubois asked:

"Now you've seen the bill. What was it?"

"An authorization," replied Arias.

"What's your comment?"

"Still no comment."

President Arias' skepticism was justified. Last week the House of Representatives in its mad rush for economy chopped out a $1-000,000 appropriation for beginning the Balboa bridge. The people of Panama will have to ferry across the canal for a few more years.

New Haven Assessor

Charges Quo Warranty

Proceedings Irregular

A motion to strike the petition for leave to file a Quo Warranto complaint against Burnett Allen, recently appointed assessor of New Haven Township, has been filed in Gallatin County circuit court by the defendant through his attorney Charles W. Phillips.

The answer states that the said petition and the said proposed complaint and all other files and records in this cause do not allege and fail to show by what right or authority the complainants bring suit for the people of the State of Illinois and in the name of the people of the State of Illinois.

It further states that the petition on its face alleges that said Burnett Allen is now usurping the office of tax assessor in and for the county of Gallatin and that the complaint proposed to be filed alleges that said Burnett Allen has usurped the office of tax assessor of the Town of New Haven, County of Gallatin, State of Illinois.

The motion points out that by reason of the foregoing inconsistencies this defendant is unable to ascertain if the complainants intend to apply for leave to file a complaint to oust him as tax assessor in and for the County of Gallatin or for tax assessor in and for the Town of New Haven, and being unable to ascertain with what usurpation he is charged is unable to defend; and if charged with usurpation of both said offices should be given separate notices thereof.

The original proceedings were instituted by Jeff Price, Bert Aud, Daniel B. Stallings and Horace Stallings for the people of the State of Illinois.

Disappearing Island

Scientific explanation of the periodic disappearance of Falcon Island is that the island is produced by intermittent eruptions of an underwater volcano. When the volcano is quiet, the sea wears away the ash it has thrown up.

Cheese Sources

Cheese is spread around the world and is made from the milk of the ass, buffalo, camel, cow, goat, horse, reindeer, sheep and zebu.

Brazil nuts grow on trees so tall that pickers wait for them to ripen and fall.

The bamboo plant produces flowers.

Recent Weather Brings Momentary Favorable Comment

Mrs. Truman Hawkins, formerly of Harrisburg and now a resident of Roswell, N. M., has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Sam Morse and her brother, Lee Morse, recently.

The family was gathered for a dinner when the rain started Tuesday at about 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Hawkins, who had not seen rain in her home town in New Mexico for almost three years, was thrilled with the "beautiful rain" and immediately went outside to take a walk in it.

It is reported that she soon felt that the demonstration of rain in Saline county was being overdone.

CALLING ALL SINNERS—The candid camera catches Evangelist Billy Graham in three typical poses as he exhorts his listeners to come forward and "give their lives to Christ." Graham, internationally known revivalist from North Carolina, has been drawing near-capacity crowds in his New York crusade in Madison Square Garden. Biggest religious revival in the nation's history, the crusade will run for six weeks.

Billy Graham Launches TV Series Saturday

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, riding the crest of one of his most successful crusades, will branch out to network TV starting next week.

Graham will face off against NBC-TV's Perry Como and CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason when he launches the first of a four-week 60-minute Saturday night series on ABC-TV this June 1. The competition doesn't seem to have him worried.

29 to Graduate At Shawneetown High Friday

Commencement exercises for the twenty-nine members of the graduating class of the Shawneetown high school will be held Friday, May 24, in the high school gymnasium at 8 p. m. There are 17 girls and 12 boys in the class.

Dr. John D. Barnes, assistant director of Community Development, Southern Illinois University, will give the commencement address.

The processional and recessional will be by Judy Waller; the invocation by Bob Stewart; a selection, "Perfect Day," by the mixed glee club and a vocal solo, "Blind Pilgrimage," by Jim Cox.

Herschel Newcomb, superintendent of the unit schools, will introduce the speaker and following the address will recognize the award winners.

Presentation of diplomas will be by Pat Scates, secretary of the board of education.

Baccalaureate services for the graduates were held Sunday, May 19, in the school gymnasium and the Rev. John E. Stallings, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, delivered the address.

Admitted: Jerald Wayne Pearson, RFD 2, Harrisburg.
Mrs. Irma Isham, 403 South Main, Harrisburg.
Linda Hopson of Equality.
Mrs. Fred Dailey, 107 West Raymond street, Harrisburg.

"We'll just take the left-overs," said Graham with the hint of a smile. "Maybe one or two people will switch over. Whatever time period you have, you're going to be up against something anyway."

"Originally, we were thinking in terms of Sunday nights," continued Graham. "But that would have put us up against Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan. We figured that might be too much."

The 38-year-old Graham, currently embarked on a campaign to whip up religious interest in New York, will beam his TV show right from Madison Square Garden, home base of his crusade.

"We're not going to change anything for TV," he said. "I'm just going to preach right at the camera. You might say I have an advantage over other show people because it's not the speaker that counts, it's what the speaker is saying. And this is a message people are hungry for."

Graham, who had a syndicated TV show of his own for three years, was critical of religious programs on TV.

"I don't think the church has properly utilized TV," said Graham. "TV is the greatest medium for getting a message across, but the church is failing miserably in getting its message over. The TV programs I've seen are of inferior caliber."

"I have an idea for a program myself although I must say some of my associates are somewhat in dispute with me about it. It would be a kind of religious extravaganza."

"You'd have an orchestra and a glee club like Fred Waring's to sing the old hymns. The whole program would be done with all the flair of popular shows. You'd have a five to eight minute skit emphasizing a moral or spiritual truth."

"You'd have an interview with Roy Rogers or Vice President Nixon or what have you that would emphasize spiritual meaning. And then maybe, five minutes of preaching right at the camera. No longer than that."

"It would take a lot of money and a lot of faith and probably would run into some ecclesiastical criticism, but I'm convinced the churches should use the most modern methods. After all, the message doesn't change, only the method of communication."

Stratton Vetoes Bill to Take Fees from Public Administrators

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Rep. Robert W. McCarthy today promised a fight to override a veto by Gov. William G. Stratton of a bill that would have taken away a share of the fees from Illinois public administrators.

To override a veto requires a two-thirds vote in both Houses. Few attempts are made to override vetoes and fewer still are successful. Statehouse veterans said the last successful attempt to override a veto was made in 1935.

Stratton Tuesday vetoed a bill which would have permitted out of state residents to nominate executors of their own choice to handle an estate, rather than have such estates administered by the public administrator.

In his veto message, Stratton said the bill would deprive a public administrator of "the most important part of his income."

He said the public administrator in large counties, such as Cook, must establish a large office, hire legal and stenographic help and pay other expenses.

Stratton said the bill involved the "better estates" which might come under a public administrator's jurisdiction and to deprive him of the fee on these estates would make it difficult for the public administrator to pay his expenses and "make any net income."

The result would be, Stratton said, that the state eventually would end up appropriating money to pay the public administrator's salary.

Only last week Stratton appointed Thomas J. Downs, Chicago attorney, to be Cook County public administrator to succeed Charles J. Fleck who resigned after he was indicted for allegedly mishandling an estate.

The Cook County public administrator's office has been estimated to be worth about $100,000 a year in fees and thus is one of the richest patronage plums at the governor's disposal.

Neff Announces Forest Sale of Pine Pulpwood

The sale of 50,400 cords of pine pulpwood on the Shawnee National Forest was announced today by L. P. Neff, Forest Supervisor, Harrisburg. The Alton Box Board Company, of Alton, was the successful bidder when sealed bids were opened on May 17. Actual cutting of the wood will probably not start for 12 to 18 months.

The purpose of the sale is to provide an outlet for badly needed thinning operations on the 15,000 acres that were planted to pine from 1936 to 1943. The plantations are from 5 to 300 acres in size throughout the Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois. The plantings were made first as a part of the Civilian Conservation Corps program and later continued by regular U. S. Forest Service crews. Part of the planting was financed by money contributed by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Izaak Walton League, and the Illinois Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

When trees are planted, they are set out approximately six feet apart. As they grow, they become crowded and by the time they are about twenty years old, they need to be thinned out. After removing the poorer specimens, the remaining trees have more growing space and will reach sawlog size more quickly.

Under the present agreement, two thinnings will be made in each plantation at about 5-year intervals. This is expected to yield about 5,000 cords of pulpwood per year. Selection of trees to be cut and supervision of the sale will be in charge of District Forest Rangers Levi M. Frost, at Jonesboro; C. A. Gregory, at Vienna; and A. Claude Ferguson, at Elizabethtown.

After the war, planting was resumed. In 1957 about 2,500 acres were planted. Thinnings will be needed later on the 14,000 acres planted since 1947. The oldest of these will need treatment around 1967 at which time additional similar sales will be considered.

Jack Wallace to Receive Master's, Work on Doctor's Degree

Two seniors and an August master's degree candidate at Southern Illinois University have been awarded teaching assistantships in the field of chemistry at other schools, according to Dr. James Neckers, chairman of the SIU chemistry department.

James Summary, Benton, will teach at Michigan State University while pursuing graduate work in organic and biological chemistry.

Harold Ward, Mt. Vernon, will teach and study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Jack Wallace, Harrisburg, who will receive a master's degree from SIU in August, will continue work on a doctorate at the University of West Virginia.

McCarthy (D- Lincoln) is sponsor of the bill.

Stratton also vetoed a bill to make parents financially liable up to $300 for malicious damage done by their children.

He vetoed this bill on the basis of an attorney general's opinion which said that to impose liability on a parent regardless of fault or negligence on his part and solely on the basis of family relationship would be lacking in "that element of natural justice embodied in the due process" guarantees of the Constitution.

Chances Slim For Passage of Natural Gas Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chances for congressional passage of the controversial natural gas bill appeared today to be dead for this year—and possibly next year as well.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson said his Senate Commerce Committee does not plan to act on the bill this year. If the House passes it, he said, "we'll probably take it up next January."

A Senate source said the Democratic leadership doesn't want to hold lengthy hearings and extended Senate debate on a bill whose fate is in doubt in the House.

The source also said administration-proposed amendments to the bill are opposed by the natural gas industry. This may hamper its chances next year since the bill was designed to help the industry.

President Eisenhower's lack of active support of the bill also is working against its chances, the source said. If the House passes the bill this session, he said, it will only be by a close vote.

The bill is a greatly modified version of a bill vetoed last year by Eisenhower because of "arrogant" tactics used by natural gas lobbyists in backing it.

SIU Receives Grant To Help Teachers for Mentally Handicapped

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A $500 grant-in-aid program has been established at Southern Illinois University to help area teachers qualify for teaching mentally handicapped children.

Provided by the Egyptian Association for Mentally Retarded Children, the money is to be used during the 1957 Summer Session, which opens June 17, according to Judge Peyton Kuncie, Murphysboro, president. The maximum amount a teacher may obtain to help pay summer session expenses is $250, Kuncie said.

Teachers interested in becoming eligible to teach special education classes in their schools may apply for a stipend by contacting the SIU Scholarships and Loans Committee or the Egyptian Association office in Carbondale (821 S. University).

Parakeet Escapes But Doesn't Like Storm

Recent storms have been very exciting to birds in cages. One of these, a parakeet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denny flew out into the storm, and was advertised as "Lost" in Wednesday's Daily Register.

The "keet" didn't like it outside either, and was found hovering in the garage at the Mark Taylor home, by a classified reader, who "gave Mr. Denny the bird" much to the delight of that gentleman.

Allan had asked what had become of the two young men whom Al Merhametsiz had recruited at the same time as he had found his wife. Camille explained to his mother the question that had been asked; but dealt with it himself.

"There were two, as you say; and they came willingly with Al Merhametsiz, because they were tired of fishing in the fifth. One died soon after he arrived; but the other became a great captain under Al Merhametsiz. You met his direct descendant this morning."

"Not Kassim, surely?" asked Allan. "Nor Ruhl ben Ishak?" "One of them," said Camille. "Kassim is Kassim Mourali, and Ruhl is Ruhl ben Ishak. Can you not translate either of these names into Scotch?"

"Mourali: Murali — Murray? No? The other one? Ben Ishak: 'son of Isaac'—McIsaac!" "Do you not have a name 'Mac-kissock'?" asked Jules.

"McKissock!" cried Allan. "Indeed we do. There are McKissock tombstones in Ballantrae cemetery going back to the beginning of the seventh century. And I remember now: McKissock was the name of one of the men."

"Ruhl ben Ishak is descended from Roy McKissock." And Jules would have continued, but that his mother suddenly clapped her hands.

"My mother thinks that it is time for us to eat. After our meal she wishes to show you something."

After the meal, the old lady got up briskly, and led Allan to another room, small and dark and heavily hung with sombre rugs. Allan saw that the room was full of trophies, not unlike those which Camille had already shown him in the synagogue at Areg el Kebir. But here were swords and daggers, the gilded figurehead of a ship, some chased pistols, and much other stuff such as might clutter an antique shop in Edinburgh.

The old lady put her hand on another door, over which hung a curtain, and spoke in a low voice to Camille.

"My mother wishes me to impress upon you that she is about to do you the greatest honor in her power. Nobody has ever before been admitted to this room who was not a lineal descendant of Al Merhametsiz."

With that the door creaked open, and they all passed inside. This room was even darker and stuffier than the other, and at first Allan could see nothing at all, but that an oil lamp, turned low, was hanging from the ceiling. George limped forward to turn it up; and there, lying on a low bed, was Al Merhametsiz himself.

There lay the embalmed body of Alexander Larg the Piltess, dressed not in Arab style but in the rich fineries of an early eighteenth-century man of fashion. A flowing white beard spread down to his breast; the shrivelled cheeks and forehead were almost black with desiccation and age; the hands that lay on the bed beside him were the merest stringy claws.

The blue and yellow coat with its wide skirt, the white breeches, the jabot and the ruffles, were alike discolored with age and grime. The whole body was shrunken; the old man's frame had evidently greatly diminished before being attired in the trappings of his youth, but the process of nature had reduced it still further. The one incongruous item about the dress was the shawl, closely resembling a Highland plaid, which was fastened on the left shoulder with the identical silver brooch which the Kaid was wearing in his portrait at Larg.

Allan stepped out into the antechamber with relief, but feeling nevertheless that he would not be happy until several more doors had closed between him and Al Merhametsiz.

"She wishes to explain to you the situation which you have found in Seknou. . . . This rising has been planned for some years past, in conjunction with leaders in other parts of Tunisia, and all preparations have been complete for some time. As soon as the French have committed their troops to the areas which are now in a state of revolt, certain other areas, where the French will have been weakened by their redistribution of troops, will then rise also. . . . When all is over, Seknou will be one of several independent Sultanates, working together in a loose confederation, but prepared to help each other by force of arms if necessary in the event of any threat or aggression. . . . My mother has other plans to tell you, and she wishes also to tell you of a great piece of good fortune which has come our way lately; but before she goes on she wishes you to assure her formally of what she is already certain must be so: and that is, that you are with us heart and soul in our struggle against the French."

Here it comes! thought Allan; and he looked at the three brothers and their ferocious mother, now hanging on his words.

"You have done me great honor in receiving me here as your kinsman and cousin. I am proud of my kinship with Al Merhametsiz, and deeply proud at the tales of his great gallantry and prowess. I am proud too, to see that his family of today is one of which he himself would have been proud if he could have seen it."

Camille finished translating, and looked to him for more.

"I am therefore sorry to disappoint you, and to tell you that I cannot take sides, either with you or against you, in your quarrel with the French."

Senate Refuses To Push SIU Engineering Bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Senate today refused to force a bill out of committee which would permit Southern Illinois University to grant engineering degrees.

The Senate voted, 17-10, against a motion by Sen. R. G. Crisenberry (R-Murphysboro) to discharge the Senate Education Committee from further consideration of the measure. The committee has voted twice on the bill, only to deadlock, 5-5, with two members voting present.

The measure remains in committee, with another hearing set May 29. Crisenberry said the "tremendous need" for engineers in southern Illinois, particularly to attract and keep industry in the area, made a degree program at SIU in engineering urgent.

Sen. Paul Broyles (R-Mount Vernon) said he was "concerned" because a University of Illinois official had been present at the committee hearings to oppose the bill.

Such action indicated a "selfish attitude," he said. Sen. Glen O. Jones (R-Harrisburg) told the Senate it was "unbelievable" that there could be opposition to the SIU request in the face of the need for engineers.

Jury Refuses to Indict Father for Stealing Child

DES MOINES — A divorced father charged with abducting his infant daughter from his former wife has won the first round in his battle to reclaim the girl.

A grand jury here refused Tuesday to bring a criminal indictment against Robert Artz, 33, Olney, Ill. Artz took his daughter, now Debbie Joiner, 3, from the Des Moines home of his estranged wife May 11. Debbie's mother, Mrs. Wilburn Joiner, was awarded the child when she acquired a second divorce from Artz in Reno, Nev.

The first divorce, initiated and won by Artz in Illinois, had not settled the question of custody.

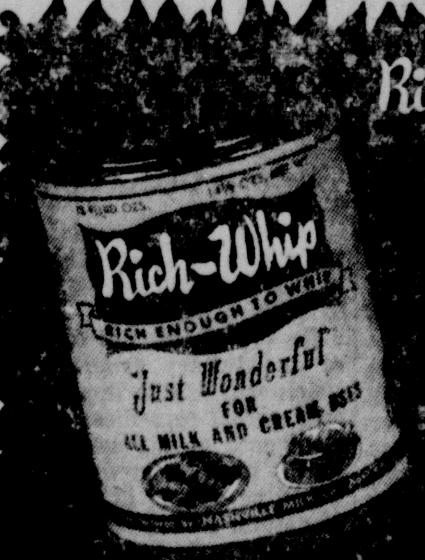

After "stealing" Debbie, Artz brought her to Olney and turned himself in to authorities. He said he wanted his "day in court" in Olney, and would resist extradition to Iowa.

Polk County Atty. Ray Hanrahan said the question of custody "will have to be settled in the divorce courts."

Harris Coggeshall, Mrs. Joiner's lawyer, said a civil action to reclaim the child has been started in Illinois.

Coggeshall said the papers already were on file at Olney.

In a town of 1,000 population, according to the American Cancer Society, four persons will be under treatment for cancer this year.

CHARLES WALL — MINISTER

THE GREAT COMMISSION

There are many ideas in the world about this subject. The reason is because people omit the teaching of God's word. The Will of God tells us all we need to know about it. The commission was given to all the world. (Mk. 16:15-16). The Lord died on the cross that the world through him might be saved.

One of the ideas about this subject is this: That only a certain few have the opportunity to be chosen by the Lord to be saved. Then those that are lost will not have the opportunity to do anything about it. There is no doubt, but what God knew the ones that would accept the Gospel and those that would reject it. This, however, does not leave the idea that everyone doesn't have the privilege to obey the Gospel. (MATT. 28:19-20) If the Lord were going to save those from the beginning, then there wouldn't have been any need for Christ to suffer the death upon the cross. Why did Christ shed his blood? (HEB. 9:22) He died that the creatures of God might have the remission of sin by obeying his Gospel. Before his death there was no remission of sin. But after Christ gave his life, the Gospel was extended to every creature under Heaven. (MK. 16:15-16; MATT. 28:19-20).

Is there anyone that doesn't understand the things that are written above? I'm sure that everyone can understand it. Why not study your Bible, check the references and see if the scriptures are not the same?

Religion is something that must be practiced only by the word of God. If we go by anything other than His word, then our lives will have been lived in vain. (MATT. 15:9)

We invite everyone to visit with the Church of Christ. You are welcome to come and study the Bible with us. Will you visit us Sunday? "A warm welcome is awaiting you."

DESPITE RAINY weather last Sunday the Sunday Auto Tour included the river trip from Cave-in-Rock along the route traveled for the Davy Crockett movie. The group which gathered near Harrisburg first went to Burden Falls (shown at right) and visited Bell Smith Springs before enjoying a picnic lunch at Cave-in-Rock pavillion. There the group was loaded into seven cars and enjoyed the river trip as scheduled as shown in the pictures above. According to William Farley, guide leader, this was the first Sunday Auto Tour which was held without the annoyance of dust. Another river trip will be scheduled for sometime in June, he said.

New Wave of Twisters Hit In Five States

By United Press
Tornado weather clung to the nation's midlands today after erupting in a new wave of damaging twisters across five states.
Tornadoes rammed hard hit Missouri for the third straight day Wednesday night and others skipped across Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.
No deaths were reported in the onslaught, but several persons were injured and numerous homes damaged or destroyed.
The United Press counted at least 53 persons killed since Monday night when a giant tornado crushed through the suburbs of Kansas City. The victims, all but one from Missouri, included 38 in the Kansas City area, six in the devastated community of Fremont, four at Desloge and four elsewhere in the state. An Indianapolis, Ind., city employee was electrocuted while clearing away storm wreckage.
The tornado producing weather conditions, a combination of warm humid air clashing with a line of colder air, extended from eastern Texas to Michigan. Numerous severe thunderstorms were reported throughout the area.
A tornado near Waco, Tex., Wednesday night churned a path 500 feet wide and five miles long, injuring four persons and destroying seven homes. One of the injured was in serious condition.

Truck Splash Guard Law Upheld

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The constitutional splash guards on trucks was upheld today by the Illinois Supreme Court.
Enforcement of the act has been stopped because of an injunction obtained by truckers.
The truckers contended the law was an improper exercise of the Legislature's police powers, and that it was unreasonable because the required guards were difficult to purchase and frequently fell off trucks, causing safety hazards.
But the court said "we find no merit in the contention that the provisions are unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious. The splashing of water or mud upon the windshields of other vehicles on the road is an evil which the Legislature rightfully aims to correct."

Predict More Rains

Thousands of Acres Flooded in Area; 82 Families Homeless

By United Press
Fast-rising rivers and creeks have driven some 82 families from their homes in southern Illinois and flooded thousands of acres of lowland.
Little prospect was seen for any relief from the heavy rains with a prediction of more thunderstorms today and Friday.
Almost six inches of rain Tuesday night and another downpour Wednesday at Harrisburg put Middle Fork Creek over its banks, forcing 32 families from their homes. Water was four feet deep in some areas of Harrisburg.
Ill. 34 and U. S. 45-north and Ill. 13-east into Harrisburg were closed as floodgates and levees were sandbagged to keep water from the city.
Ill. 13-west and U. S. 45 and Ill. 34-south remained open.
Water spilled over a levee protecting the Harrisburg sewage disposal plant Wednesday, forcing its evacuation. Officials said it will take six weeks to put the plant back into operation after the water recedes. Meanwhile, sewage was being discharged into the swollen Middle Fork Creek.
Flood waters in Marion dropped eight inches overnight, but Police Chief Charles Edwards estimated 50 families were still out of their homes. Oldtimers in South Marion said the water was eight inches higher than during the 1937 flood.

Three Highways Out Of City Sandbagged

The opening on Route 34 north was sandbagged at 4:30 p. m., the one on Route 45 north was sandbagged at 8 p. m. and the one on Route 13 East was sandbagged at 1:30 a. m. today.
City and county street and road workers were joined last night by 15 men from the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp. personnel here and R. R. Brown, engineer, praised the work of these men, who furnished two trucks with big floodlights and assisted in filling sandbags and placing them.
The company also furnished coffee for the workers.
Route 13 West reopened
Route 13 west, which was closed for a while late yesterday in the area of Bankston Fork, was reopened and traffic was moving toward Marion.
People wanting to go to Galatia were going west to the Harco road and over to Route 34 north of Galatia. Routes 34, 145, and 45 south were open.
Engineer Brown made a trip to Lake Harrisburg this morning and said barking further heavy rains the lake looked in good shape. Water had stopped going over the emergency spillway and had fallen two feet to 15 inches over the main spillway.
The sewer department had to abandon the sewer plant about 4 p. m. yesterday. When it was seen the water could not be kept out, the motors were pulled. Amos Doom, superintendent of the water and sewer department, said it will take several weeks of work to get the plant into operation after the water goes down.
Power Off In Some Places
Power was still off in many parts of the area and people with deep freeze units were expressing concern yesterday.
Workmen were busy restoring telephone service as quickly as possible, and emergency long distance service was available.
It was learned late Wednesday that the storm blew over one of the three walls up at the Eldorado Manufacturing Co. building under construction on Route 45 near Eldorado.

Women Brave 'Stormy' Weather To Return Home

Mrs. Clyde Wilmoth drove her car to a club meeting at Mrs. Cecil Sullivan's home near Galatia Tuesday evening. She took four other Harrisburg members with her, Mrs. Thoral Gaskins, Mrs. W. J. Blackard, Mrs. Kenneth C. Capel and Mrs. Carl Rude.
It was literally a "stormy" meeting with tornadoic winds whistling around the house for hours. At eleven, the group decided to make the attempt to come back to Harrisburg and there is where the story begins.
With visibility practically zero, they made their way to the Raleigh intersection and could go no farther. For more than twenty minutes, which seemed to them, twenty hours, they were stopped and could hear and see nothing except the rush of the wind and the wash of the torrential rain.
Sometime after midnight, they were finally able to get to Harrisburg and although there were no hysterics, the most calm disposition admitted real fear. If the winds were not more severe than they were in Harrisburg during the same period, they certainly seemed so, out in the open and exposed area.
Mrs. Robert G. Miley went to her farm home alone, and apparently arrived without undue incident, since she was in Harrisburg on Wednesday.

Group Approves Postal Hikes

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Post Office Committee today approved the administration's bill to raise the cost of mailing a first class letter from 3 to 4 cents and to hike other postal rates effective July 1.
Air mail letters would be raised to 7 cents, post cards to 3 cents.
All told, postage rates would be raised 462 million dollars for the year starting July 1.
The measure won approval by a "decisive majority" and with virtually no change, Chairman Tom Murray (D-Tenn.) announced.
The committee completed action on the bill today by voting four annual 15 per cent increases in postage rates for newspapers and magazines.

Hintz Says He Helped State

JOLIET, Ill. (UP) — Ex-banker Edward A. Hintz, convicted of conspiracy in the $2,500,000 Hodge scandal, has told a parole hearing he was innocent of the charge and, in fact, helped unmask the huge embezzlement.
The baldish, 69-year-old banker, appeared before the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board at Stateville Penitentiary Wednesday, seeking his freedom Aug. 31 upon completion of the first year of his three-year sentence.
The board is expected to rule on his plea June 12.
Hintz said he pleaded guilty to the state charge only because he wanted the state sentence to run concurrently with his three-year federal sentence for misapplication of bank funds.
"I don't think the state of Illinois could have proved me guilty," Hintz said.

Acquit Sergeant For Slaying Chinese Officer

TAIPEI (UP) — A U. S. military court-martial today acquitted M. Sgt. Robert G. Reynolds, 42, of the peeping Tom slaying of a Chinese Nationalist officer.
The decision, reached after one hour and 35 minutes of deliberations, was greeted by an enthusiastic outburst of applause by Americans in the courtroom but appeared to have caused Chinese resentment.
Reynolds, of Coloma, Md., shot and killed Liu Chi-Jan outside his home the night of March 20 after he found him peeking through a bathroom window at his wife, Clara, 36, as she dried herself after taking a shower.
Reynolds pleaded innocent to voluntary manslaughter charges and said he shot at Liu when he raced outdoors and Liu came at him with what he thought was a weapon.
It was the first trial of an American serviceman for the shooting of a Chinese. It came during negotiations between American and Chinese officials for a status of forces agreement which would give Nationalist courts the right to try "off duty" cases of American military personnel.
A general court-martial board of five colonels and three master sergeants ruled that the baldish, brown-haired Reynolds, a U. S. Army medical corpsman, was innocent of the charges.

Father Stricken After Son Kills Mother, Sister

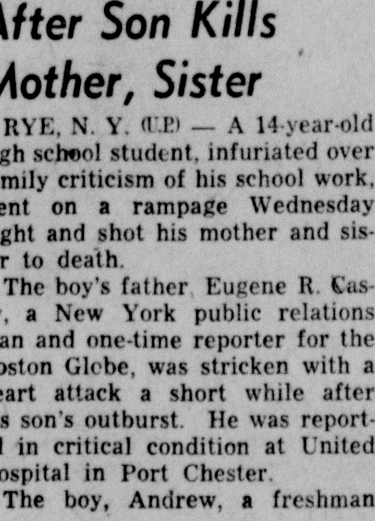

RYE, N. Y. (UP) — A 14-year-old high school student, infuriated over family criticism of his school work, went on a rampage Wednesday night and shot his mother and sister to death.
The boy's father, Eugene R. Casey, a New York public relations man and one-time reporter for the Boston Globe, was stricken with a heart attack a short while after his son's outburst. He was reported in critical condition at United Hospital in Port Chester.
The boy, Andrew, a freshman at Rye High School, surrendered the gun, a .22 caliber rifle, owned by his brother, to police when they arrived. Coherent, but rambling, he gave no motive for the shooting, according to District Attorney Joseph Gagliardi. But police said criticism of school grades appeared to have touched off the shootings.

His mother, Dorothy, 48, shot six times, was killed instantly. The sister, Sheila, 19, a bank employee, shot once in the eye, died 90 minutes later at United Hospital.

Husband Asks Indian Gov't to Expel Rossellini

BOMBAY, India (UP) — The Bombay Chronicle said today the husband of the beautiful Indian script writer whose name has been linked romantically with Roberto Rossellini has asked the government to expel the Italian movie director.
The English-language newspaper said Hari Das Gupta accused Rossellini of disrupting his marriage.
It was the first story published in India concerning Rossellini and 27-year-old Sonali Das Gupta.
The newspaper said Das Gupta filed a petition with the central government at New Delhi asking Rossellini to be declared an undesirable alien and ordered to leave India.
Rossellini flew to New Delhi Wednesday night. He told reporters he went to the capital on personal business but refused to explain.
There were unconfirmed reports Rossellini went to New Delhi to seek a passport for Mrs. Das Gupta. Mrs. Das Gupta has been working with Rossellini on a series of documentary films.
Rossellini has termed reports he planned to divorce Ingrid Bergman and marry Mrs. Das Gupta "nonsense." Mrs. Das Gupta, mother of two children, said the reports are "humbug."

Thinking It Over

By Robert Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)
Concerts are given in cities and hamlets all over the United States.

Artists take their music to millions of people who enjoy the artistry of others. Some of the listeners have studied music in a small way, but the vast majority of the audiences are thrilled by the sounds they hear.

We do not have to be critics. We do not need to feel that the artist is substituting for the performer which we might have been. We hear the message of music which lifts us out of the humdrum of daily living. We receive inspiration to live more happily.

The voice of God and the words of His ministers have a similar effect on our lives. The sermons and the church services in America lift folk above the materialistic routine of life and inspire people to higher ideals, higher moral standards and more satisfying pleasure in serving God and man.

Reds Snap Dodgers Win Streak, 8-1, to Retain Lead as Braves Beat Phils

By United Press
Johnny Klippstein, an ex-farmhand who never got a chance to make the grade in Brooklyn, has the Dodgers convinced today he's definitely "big league."

Klippstein, who was drafted out of the Dodgers' vast farm system back in 1950, has come back to haunt them with no less than eight victories in the last three years. He came through Wednesday night with a nifty five-hitter that gave the Cincinnati Redlegs an 8-1 triumph over the National League champions.

It was a key victory for the Redlegs because it snapped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak and dropped Brooklyn into third place. It enabled the Redlegs to retain their game and a half lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who scored a 4-3, 13-inning triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The New York Giants edged out the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in the only other National League activity. The Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over the New York Yankees, 8-4, the Boston Red Sox tied a league record of four homers in one inning as they routed the Cleveland Indians, 11-0, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, in 10 innings and the Kansas City Athletics whipped the Washington Senators, 8-6, in the American League.

Rain Delays Play
Klippstein, who had an 0-3 record and was kayoed in his four previous starts, turned in one of the best games by a Redleg pitcher this year. He yielded the Dodgers' run in the second inning but shut them out with two hits after play was halted by rain for an hour and 42 minutes in the middle of the fifth inning.

The Braves pulled out their game with the Phillies, after trailing 3-0, on the wings of a three-run homer by Ed Matthews in the fifth and Chuck Tanner's first round-tripper of the year in the 13th. The blows, 11th and 12th homers off Robin Roberts this season, were backed up by strong Milwaukee relief pitching, which shut out the Phillies the last eight innings. Rookie Juan Pizarro, who took over in the 12th, won his second game while the loss was Roberts' fifth. He has three victories.

Red Schoendienst's ninth inning single following a single by Daryl Spencer gave the Giants their victory after a homer by Dale Long produced a 3-3 tie in the sixth. Relief pitcher Al Worthington won his third decision while Bob Rush suffered his fifth straight loss of the season.

Wilson Wins No. 5
Jim Wilson, 35-year-old right-hander, went the distance for his fifth win as the go-go White Sox took advantage of two errors by Billy Martin and a three-base muff by Mickey Mantle to score five unearned runs and stretch their winning streak to nine straight games. The victory stretched the White Sox' first-place lead to three games and dropped the slumping Yankees four games off the AL pace.

Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone all homered in the sixth inning, tying the AL record for one inning and making it easy for Tom Brewer to breeze to his sixth win for the Red Sox. Cal McLish was the victim of the four homers—a major league mark for round-trippers off one pitcher in an inning.

Pinch-hitter Al Pilarcik's scratch hit scored Tito Francona with the winning run for the Orioles. George Zuverink gained the decision in relief while Frank Lary, appearing in relief for the first time this year, suffered his sixth loss compared to two wins.

Gus Zernial ended the Athletics' string of 29 consecutive scoreless innings and paved the way for Alex Kellner to win his first game. Zernial also homered in the seventh for the Athletics and Vic Power connected for his third. Roy Sievers hit No. 9 and Jim Lemon No. 2 for the Senators.

Kenny Lane KO's 'Toothpick' Brown In Sixth Round

DETROIT — Kenny Lane, the No. 1 lightweight contender, today was a fighter with no place to go after scoring a "perfect fight" sixth-round knockout of Henry (Toothpick) Brown Wednesday night.

Lane, 24, Muskegon-Big Rapids, Mich., southpaw, displayed a baffling, powerful attack as he battered Brown to near helplessness before putting him away with a short jolting right-hand smash.

The weights were Lane 139 1-4, Brown 137.

A crowd of 2,398 paid $2,856 to see the nationally televised Olympia Stadium bout.

Lane's co-manager, Jack Kearns and Pete Petroskey, were all smiles, hoping the sensational finish would make their boy a TV drawing card and force lightweight champ Joe Brown or another headliner into the ring with Lane. The champ, however, is already committed to a June fight with Orlando Zulueta, beaten by Lane.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Mike Viers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Viers of Eldorado, has entered the Soap Box Derby to be staged in Evansville and is busily engaged in getting his racer ready for the big day.

The maximum weight of the racing cars, including the driver, is 250 pounds and the cost of construction cannot exceed $15.00, not including the wheels, steering and front axle, which costs $17.50, I am told.

Viers is making his racer of wood, although any light weight material, that will not exceed the maximum weight and cost, may be used.

Before the racer is accepted, bills showing the costs of materials, must be furnished.

Officials of the Massac County Fair Association are hopeful that the stock car racing season at Metropolis Speedway, frustrated so far by a combination of events, can get under way this Saturday night.

The scheduled opening was blocked May 11 by a failure of the track's power system. Then last Saturday early evening rains slicked the half-mile track to the extent that the program could not be held.

If weather does not interfere an expected 30 automobiles in the 1937-1950 class will be entered in a 25-lap feature race and three 10-lap heat races Saturday night. Time trials start at 8 p. m.

Two former University of Illinois coaches have been named to the Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame. Harry L. Gill, track coach from 1904 through 1933, received recognition in that sport.

Bass Fishing Carnival Finally Gets Underway at Little Grassy

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)
After threatening to break several times, then tapering off with the spawning season, the Little Grassy Lake bass-fishing carnival finally got underway last week.

Hungry bigmouths, many of them with tails worn and red, were slamming into everything from flyrod poppers to Helldivers. The catch held up through a brief cold snap, an encouraging sign for latecomers.

Heading the roster of successful fishermen were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dawson, Florissant, Mo., seven, including fish weighing six and three-quarters, five and a quarter, five, and four and one-half pounds; Ira Casper, Cobden, five nice ones on a floating River Runt; George Rose and Bob Bumgarde, Benton the limit, twice, on flyrod poppers; C. O. Vest, Mattoon, six, four of them in the five-pound class, on a Phillips Killer; Bob Allard, Collinsville, the limit on surface baits; Bill Lipe, Belleville, the limit (but small) on a Helldiver; Burr Richards, Benton, the limit on poppers, and George Ford, Affton, Mo., three including a six and three-quarter pounder.

Crappie and bluegill fishing also remains good at Grassy with catches of 35 to 50 pan-sized morsels being brought ashore regularly. Bob Kelley, Cobden, took home 35 in the three-quarter pound category.

Crappie fishing at Crab Orchard Lake is excellent, but nothing has happened to stimulate a rush by bass fishermen. The bluegill catch has been poor but bullhead anglers are connecting.

Fish have started hitting at Pinckneyville Lake, where the water has finally started to clear. Small to medium sized bass are being taken on flyrod poppers and minnows, and worm fishermen are hooking bluegill, most of them in the five to seven inch bracket. Pork rinds and small spinners also

Meeting Sunday for Those Interested In Cart Racing

All boys interested in cart racing during the coming summer months are asked to meet at the Virginia Leberman home at the "foot of Cherry street hill" Sunday afternoon.

Last year cart racing was held several Sunday afternoons on Cherry street hill and considerable interest was shown. The program closed with championship racing and the awarding of a trophy by the Harrisburg Lions club to the winner of the championship race.

Efforts have been made previously this spring to determine the number of boys interested in continuing the cart racing this summer and only a small number have registered. However, a combination of events—mostly all kinds of bad weather—is thought to have kept many boys at home and one more effort will be made Sunday, May 26.

turbid, and fishing is only fair. Eldorado Lake has yielded some bluegill, but only small catches of bass. The bass are being taken in willows at the north end of the lake.

Lake Murphysboro slowed somewhat, although heavy strings of bluegill were brought in occasionally. The lake attracted attention in the area because of a fish kill rumored to have been caused by the use of poisonous orchard spray nearby.

Southern Illinois University fisheries researchers have tentatively blamed the kill, limited to bluegill, on a fungus. The condition, generally observed during spawning season, apparently hits through a lesion or other skin break caused by the exertions of spawning.

Low resistance at that time may make the fish particularly susceptible. Since some 5,000 dead fish were involved, a contagion is suspected.

Poisons—orchard, weed, or otherwise—are definitely beyond suspicion, experts say.
